A NSW RTO for sale with more business than you can poke a stick at in SYDNEY

This RTO enjoys an exceptionally strong relationship with Training Services NSW. And a fine reputation with ASQA.

New business just keeps pouring in...

By consistently producing positive outcomes for its students, Smart and Skilled funding keeps being increased. So a lot of potential funding remains unutilised. Which means there's more funded growth available to a new owner. And that means future income is assured.

It holds a number of funded programs. And it's a preferred provider. It's even been recognised as a quality provider by being a repeat State Winner in the NSW Training Awards.

Features include:

- Very strong relationships with the regulator, state training department, industry partners and customers;
- Embedded in large corporate clients;

- Very successful at gaining state funding;
- Highly profitable;
- State of the art systems and procedures.

It produces higher-than-industry-average profits as its overheads are pared back. It's 100% compliant and boasts a number of large national corporations as clients. They're producing more and more new business which will benefit a new owner. And it's the provider of choice for the major players in the sector in which it specialises.

So new business just keeps pouring in.

The New South Wales Training Market has, over recent years, excluded many providers from accessing funding. And for those domiciled outside the state, it's virtually impossible to become approved. But for those like this RTO, who have demonstrated quality outcomes in line with the department's training objectives, the funding is incredibly generous.

For anyone seeking access, this is a rare opportunity. And it will make a fine addition to an existing provider in the training or employment services space.

To start the ball rolling to claim this opportunity, you should get in touch with the exclusive broker.
